

19 AUGUST

Debate Session: Labour Relations with National Citizens

People are the backbone of companies and the way employment relations are managed can make or break a company's reputation. Human resources management is even more critical in challenging economic circumstances like those the world is now experiencing. It is essential to understand the legislation of the country where a company is operating, to not only protect the interests of the company, but also to respect the rights of its employees and, thus, treat them in a humane and law abiding manner.

Speakers

Elsa Tchicanha is a senior associate at BCSA Advogados, where she focuses on the areas of employment and labour, commercial and international contracts, corporate and tax law. She is a graduate of the faculty of law of Universidade Jean Piaget de Angola and has been a member of the Angolan Bar Association since 2012. Her academic background includes a postgraduate in business law (2014) and a master's degree in corporate legal advice, both from Universidad Politécnica de Madrid (2017), and a diploma in global business from Oxford Said Business School (2019).

Barros Gaspar Simão is an associate at BCSA Advogados and he specialises in the areas of employment and labour, corporate, foreign investment and intellectual property. He graduated in law from Universidade Católica de Angola in 2012.

The event will take place via Zoom
(the access link will be disclosed upon prior registration)

For more information and registration, please email elsa.tchicanha@bcsaadvogados.com.